FILLABLE EDITION

Download and save a personal copy. Open it in a PDF app that supports form fields. Tick a box or type a short test on page 3, save, close and reopen to check that it remains. A tablet or laptop gives you more room. App support varies.

Follow your cruise line's instructions for your sailing.

This sample does not include the full guide or all 17 worksheets.

Don't Let the Final Night Surprise You

The final evening is when a little organization can make the next morning much easier.

If your luggage is collected overnight

Many cruises offer a tagged-luggage process, while self-assist options may also be available. If you hand over your larger bag, keep everything you need until you see it again: clothes, shoes, medication, toiletries, documents, wallet, phone, chargers, valuables and onward-travel information.

Review your account

Check charges while you are still onboard and understand what happens to any remaining onboard credit according to its terms.

Prepare for tomorrow

Read the disembarkation instructions, confirm luggage and transportation arrangements, and check the cabin carefully - including the safe, drawers, wardrobe, bathroom, under the bed and outlets.

FROM REAL EXPERIENCE

Before handing over a suitcase, ask: What will I need between now and the moment I see this bag again?
